ORGANIKA · VIETNAM MARKET ENTRY

Executive summary

Decision document for leadership. Prepared by Louis To, Senior Sales Manager, Emerging Channels. Research as of July 2026, refreshed 24 Oct 2026. Full sourcing and confidence ratings in the market primer.

THE RECOMMENDATION

Enter Vietnam, on a narrow, staged path: one committed distributor with Organika holding the registrations and trademarks, official channels only, leading with magnesium and greens rather than collagen, on a calendar built around Tet.

Decision requested: approve a 12-month entry runway and the resourcing on page 2. First action is an audit of the existing distributor and filing our Vietnamese trademarks.

The opportunity

~US$0.9B	#1	33%	0
market, 2024; ~11%/yr to ~US$1.7B by 2030	fastest-growing supplement market in SE Asia	of online category GMV now from official stores	Canadian flagship brands in market today

Why this is the moment

- The 2025 counterfeit crackdown (100-ton factory busts, celebrity fraud convictions, a jailed regulator) moved demand decisively toward provably genuine imports. Official "Mall" stores now take a third of online category sales from a sliver of sellers.
- The crowded shelves are collagen and fish oil. Magnesium, greens, menopause and clean-label Canadian are open — real demand, no official premium brand planted there yet.
- The winning pattern is proven and copyable: one exclusive distributor, an origin credential, chain plus official Mall listings, and QR authenticity (the Doppelherz and Blackmores playbooks).

What is already true for us (and must be managed)

- We already have a distributor — Kat Vietnam Trading — with roughly ten SKUs and no Shopee Mall store. We must establish its performance and whether it holds our registrations and trademark before anything else.
- Our own product is already grey-market in Vietnam: hand-carry sellers ship Enhanced Collagen from Canada today. Without Vietnam-specific packs and a controlled price ladder, an official launch competes with cheaper genuine Organika.
- Registrations are not transferable and trademarks are first-to-file. Whoever files owns them; distributor mark-squatting is documented. This is the single highest-stakes point in any contract we sign.

The economics

Line	Figure	Note
Landed-to-shelf multiple	~2.4×	FOB to consumer shelf, CPTPP 0% duty
Premium collagen shelf band	VND 650–850k	Our collagen enters as the credential flag
Magnesium / greens	open price bands	Lead SKUs; price into uncontested shelves
Import duty (Canada)	0% CPTPP	HS 2106.90.99 with a Form CPTPP C/O; 15% without
VAT	8% to 31 Dec 2026	Reverts to 10% in 2027
Online take rate	~18–22%	Shopee/TikTok all-in before promo; chain has none

Illustrative, at modeled FOB costs. The accompanying Excel model recomputes on real COGS.

What we are asking leadership to resource

#	Investment	Why
1	Registration dossiers per SKU	Consularized free-sale certificates, GMP, lab tests, claim evidence — the listing gate
2	Vietnamese trademark filings	First-to-file; protects the brand and our negotiating position before any distributor talk
3	Launch A&P budget	Pharmacist education, compliant KOC, Mall-store vouchers — the proven channel levers
4	Vietnam-specific packs	So our own Canadian grey-market stock does not undercut the official shelf
5	A decision on Kat Vietnam	Audit, then upgrade, restructure or exit — cannot approach a new partner while an exclusive stands

Dollar figures are deliberately not fixed here — registration and A&P quotes come from the distributor audit and TCS. The model and playbook carry the cost lines.

Top risks

- Distributor owns the registration or trademark — mitigated by holding both ourselves
- Our own grey market undercuts us — mitigated by VN-specific packs and a price ladder
- The 2027 Food Safety Law reset — register now under Decree 15/2018, budget a re-compliance round

The runway

- Now–Sep: audit, IP filings, dossiers
- Sep–Jan: file registrations, build Mall stores
- Feb–Apr 2027: soft launch online after Tet
- Apr–Aug: chain listing push on velocity data
- Sep–Nov 2027: first Tet sell-in (Tet 2028)

THE DECISION

Approve the 12-month runway and the five investments above. The first irreversible step — filing our trademarks and auditing Kat Vietnam — can begin immediately and protects us regardless of the final go/no-go.
